Classroom Presentations

Interactive on-site or online sessions with self-assessments, role-playing, and games for such topics as:

- Bullying Prevention
 - Multiculturalism
 - Power of Listening
 - Leadership Skills
- Getting the Job You Want!
- Talent Management

Bullying Prevention

This training program helps students protect themselves from mistreatment by a bully or bullies by providing an understanding of:

- School Bullying
- New Jersey's Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights
 - Bully Proofing
 - Seeking Help

Multiculturalism

Living peacefully with others in today's world requires:

- understanding multiculturalism and cultural diversity,
- learning how different ideas help us to grow stronger as a country, and
- knowing the main ingredient -- respect for the dignity of lives.

Listening

There is a significant difference between hearing and listening. Hearing is a physical ability while listening is a skill that allows one to make sense of and understand what another person is saying.

Without listening, there is no communication. This training provides useful tips to develop listening as a master skill.

Leadership Skills

Whatever role you play in school, at work or in your personal life, if you need to influence others to work toward goals, then you are a leader.

To be an effective leader, you must identify your style and adapt it for each unique situation, and this training provides the tools.

Getting the Job You Want!

This action plan for the job that's right for you provides facts and tips to initiate a job search successful for your unique needs.

Students will learn what jobs to pursue based on their specific character and personality identified through a self-assessment.

Talent Development

Talent development is popular with companies for employee retention and with schools to improve the academic achievement of students.

This training program prepares students for these efforts with an understanding of talent development as it leads them to a career path of success.
